

NATIVE PLANT SALE & LECTURE

Plant Sale: Saturday, May 5th 12—4 p.m.

Lecture and Plant Walk at 2 p.m.

with Joy Cirigliano

Registration required for the 2 pm lecture email:

trsac@audubon.org or call 516-922-3200 $5 suggested donation

My Yard is For the Birds:

The Things that Birds Look For in a Suburban Yard

Joyann Cirigliano, Habitat Specialist, President-Four Harbors Audubon, NWF-CWLP, CNLP

Let's face it, after gardening, birdwatching is the nation's favorite pastime. Many gardeners are also birdwatchers, and vice-versa. Sadly, because of habitat loss, climate change and other issues, many species of birds are in decline. By using our yards, we can help our avian neighbors increase their numbers. Find out what our feathered friends (and other wildlife) look for in our yards, and why we need to put it there. Becoming good stewards and ecoscaping our yards can help restore balance and create safe harbors for wildlife. By blending aesthetics and ecology, landscapes that are both very attractive and highly functional can be created. Please bring any questions, your curiosity, and an open mind.

134 Cove Rd Oyster Bay, NY 11771

For more info: 516-922-3200 or email trsac@audubon.org